

Bay Area-based Sub-Zero and Wolf Regional Winners Vie for Top Honors at Global Summit

The Sub-Zero and Wolf Kitchen Design Contest is one of the most coveted industry design contests. The caliber of design talent is unparalleled and the prizes awarded are equally unmatched. The 2013-14 Sub-Zero and Wolf KDC is made up of 11,450 entrants, representing inspiring design from in sixteen countries, making this year's KDC a true global design contest. 63% of the 2013-14 KDC entrants submitted for the first-time, including regional winners Monique and Arthur!

Join us to cheer on Monique Agnew of Monique Agnew Architecture and Arthur Krikor Halajian of Kitchens and More, our two regional winners representing Northern California and Hawaii, as they compete as finalists in the KDC Summit and Gala, taking place in September in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Arthur brews an espresso in the Wolf coffee system to pair with the chocolate cookies

Monique checks on cookies we baked between takes in the Wolf convection steam oven

SUB  ZERO